SBA DISASTER LOANS AVAILABLE FOLLOWING SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE DISASTER DESIGNATION

AUGUSTA, ME – The U.S. Small Business Administration announced today that federal disaster loans are available to small, non-farm, agriculture-dependent businesses located in various counties in Maine and New Hampshire.

“SBA’s disaster declaration was issued as a result of a similar action taken by the Secretary of Agriculture to help farmers in these states recover from losses caused by excessive rain that occurred on June 1, 2003 and continuing,” said SBA Disaster Area Director William E. Leggiero, Jr.

Under this declaration, SBA’s Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL) program is available to small agriculture-dependent businesses and small agricultural cooperatives that suffered economic injury as a direct result of the severe weather’s effect on agricultural producers. For example, a business that sells goods/services to agricultural producers may be unable to pay bills and/or meet expenses because of the reduced purchasing power of the farmers and ranchers.

“SBA is committed to helping small businesses overcome economic injuries and we offer the financial resources to accomplish this,” Leggiero added.

Eligible small businesses may qualify for loans up to $1.5 million. These loans are available at a 2.953 percent interest rate with loan terms up to thirty years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business and its financial resources.

Under this disaster declaration, SBA does not provide loans to agricultural producers, and cannot provide loans to non-agricultural dependent businesses. However, small businesses may contact their local SBA District office for information and other possible assistance. Farmers and ranchers should contact the Farm Services Agency, for information regarding additional loan programs.

The declaration designates the counties of Aroostook, Franklin, Oxford and Penobscot in the State of Maine as the primary disaster area. The contiguous counties of Androscoggin, Cumberland, Hancock, Kennebec, Piscataquis, Somerset, Waldo, Washington and York in the State of Maine; and Carroll and Coos in the State of New Hampshire are also eligible to apply.
